Business News.—The Legislature of Pennsylvania has passed a bill to prohibit the sale of slaves in the state. This bill was introduced by Mr. M'Affee, near Beaver Furnace, in this county, we are informed, was destroyed by fire, on yesterday. The particulars, we have not ascertained. A barn in Perry township, was destroyed by fire on the 1st inst., but we have not heard the owner's name. The fire originated through matches, with which children played while in the barn.... Our town has been filling up since the 1st inst. Among those who have removed here, we find S. Weirick, Esq., of New Berlin; Henry Weaver, of Centre county; Joseph Bolender and Anthony Specht. Several other families will be here shortly, among them Sheriff Forney, Mr. Bowes, Mr. Ettinger, &c. The Prospect.

The Union Ticket—COCHRAN, PHILLIPS, and LAPORTE—is, under the circumstances, well calculated to strike terror into the hearts of the Nebraska party in Pennsylvania. A few of their organs attempt to sneer at it, but the effort reminds one of a sculpin laughing on his way to a penitentiary. The Harrisburg organ—the Patriot & Union—says truly, and it also urges the nomination of Mr. Buchanan, for the following cogent reasons:

"THE OPPOSITION ARE UNITED!"

"Within the last few days, we have had renewed proofs of the power of Northern fusion. We see them on all hands closing up their columns, and forgetting their divisions, in view of the contest to be decided in November. We see them sweeping State after State in New England. We have even seen them, within the last few months, carrying down the once invincible column of the Democratic party of Ohio. At this moment they are entrenched in several States in the North West. If this be so now, what will it be when, in addition to the hopes which induces them to unite in their own localities, the vast patronage of the Federal Government is held up as the temptation involving them to concentrated action at the Presidential election? It is a fact, also, which deserves to be placed prominently before the public eye, that at least seven Democratic Northern Senators in Congress will depend for their own re-election, or the election of Democratic successors, upon the selection of the very strongest candidate for President."
